Horrible Murder In Perry County; Body Is Recovered From River

Letcher Officers Play Important Role In Capturing Dangerous, Ruthless Killers

Citizens And Officials Worked Tirelessly Saturday and Sunday Until Body Was Dragged From Kentucky River

Sherlock Holmes did not have much on the Letcher County officers this past week when it was learned that a murder had been committed and the guilty parties were reported headed this way.

Dr. Baoz Adkins who lives on Sandlick and always being on the alert, had read of the strange disappearance of Vernon Hodge of Louisville, found a "dog tag" with Hodge's name on it and turned it over to Letcher County officers who started an investigation.

Johnny Belcher in Neon, assisted by Gene Adkins had noticed a strange car in the community that had a crude job of paint done on it, and became suspicious when he heard of the type car that was missing.

According to Belcher, Brent Nease, father of Jasper had tried to sell the car to one of Belcher's helpers, stating to him, that it was a hot car, and "I mean hot."

Nease was arrested when he was found with the car in his custody, by Police Chief, Belcher. When arrested, Nease did not have much to say, as he had already talked enough that the officers knew he knew the car was stolen.

Jim Short, Jailer John Gose and Sgt. Keesling Hogg, of Hazard, did not stop for sleep until Jasper Nease was in custody. These three men, along with all other officers and citizens who helped to apprehend these criminals are to be highly commended for their tireless efforts.

Saturday and Sunday, good citizens, assisted by the Perry and Letcher county officers worked tirelessly until the body of Hodge was recovered. Much credit is due Chief Police R. L. Lester of Jenkins, for responding quickly to a call to bring their hooks and come to the scene of the crime. When the hooks arrived, it was only about 20 minutes before the body was located, by the aforementioned men.

This is one of the worst crimes that has been committed in this section in the last decade and has created a great deal of unrest here and elsewhere.

Young Hodges had to die at the hands of dangerous, ruthless and brutal murderers, and it could have been you or I, or a member of our family.

All Letcher countians should be interested in prosecuting the guilty and back all good citizens who are interested in combating crime.

"Fuzzy Duck" Open For Business

In passing through Whitaker one can see a sign on the window reading, "Fuzzy Duck" a somewhat amusing and comical name for a small restaurant. This is a new eating place recently opened in this little community by Dishman Collins, son of the late John Collins and former well known business man of the Whitaker section.

Dishman and his wife are endeavoring to earn a livelihood by serving the public sandwiches and soft drinks. It seems that a place of this kind is just what Whitaker needed the youngsters and their friends—a place to gather and talk over the day's happenings and enjoy some of Dishman's good food.

When in need of information, news, legal information look in the Eagle for it.

Monuments To Stupidity

The appalling fire loss record in the United States is continuing its upward climb, according to a late release by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

In January, the loss was $7,180,000—an increase of 14.8 per cent over the same month last year. And January destruction was only 1.6 per cent lower than the all-time monthly high reached in December, when more than $58,094,000 worth of property went up in smoke.

What this means is that there is no end to human carelessness, human ignorance, human failure to take the simplest, most vital precautions. There is nothing difficult about it. It is, so far as the homeowner is concerned, a matter of replacing a frayed lamp cord in time—or having heating equipment periodically inspected—or treating gasoline, cleaning solvents and other inflammable with the respect they deserve—carrying junk out of attics and basements and closets.

The fact that some 90 per cent of all fires are unnecessary and could easily have been prevented, amplifies the tragedy. Almost all of the 10,000 people who will die by fire this year, unless the trend changes, will die in vain. They will be charred, horrible monuments to our stupidity.

The problem faces us all. We have it in our power to control fire. And we have it in our power to let fire rage unchecked.

It has been estimated that there are 14,130,000,000,000 tons of salt in the seas, with about 16,000,000 tons being added by rivers annually.

Nine out of ten forest, woods and range fires are still man-made, according to national statistics. And though two out of seven are set maliciously—generally for spite or some fancied personal gain, seven out of ten are still due to carelessness—largely with matches, cigarettes and camp and picnic debris-burning fires.

Oil Well Rejuvenation

Before too long many oil wells that have been considered exhausted may be producing once again—and again the statisticians who have predicted oil shortages for the future may have to revise their calculations.

Down on the coast of Southern California, a scientist of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography has announced a process to "infect" exhausted oil sands with a bacteria which will drive the oil out of the sand. As Time describes it, these bacteria "snuffing underground like fierce microscopic ferrets, would chase residual oil toward waiting wells."

Once introduced in an oil bearing area these "bugs," by sheer multiplication, push oil particles off the grains of oil sand. They dissolve limestone, making the formation more porous. They generate carbon dioxide, which shoves oil particles ahead of it by gas pressure. The bacteria also produce a "detergent" (soaplike substance) which makes clinging oil films gather into free globules.

At present oil men are working for a practical application of the discovery. They see in it an opportunity to glean the last drop of oil from known fields. If they are successful, a tremendous step will have been taken to assure the fullest possible use of one of America's most valuable resources—and at the same time achieve maximum conservation.

This is one more example of how the oil industry is leaving no stone unturned both to develop new oil resources—and to get top productivity from the old.

"Good morning, Jimmy," said his neighbor to the small boy sweeping off the porch. "Is your mother in?" "Would I be doing this if she wasn't?"

$750,000 WORTH OF SURPLUS MERCHANDISE FOR SALE

More than $750,000 worth of surplus merchandise will be offered by the War Assets Administration in fixed price sale at the Lexington Signal depot, Lexington, Kentucky, on the following schedule: certified veterans of World War II, March 31 to April 1, RFC (for resale to small business) April 2, state and non-profit institutions, April local governments, April 3, 4, commercial buyers, April 7 until sold. The hours of the sale are from 9:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. (CST). No sales will be conducted on Saturday, Sunday or holidays.

America's welfare depends in large part on the maintenance of her natural resources, of which timber—or wood—is the second most important. Help prevent forest fires.

THOMPSON SPEAKS TO LEGISLATURE

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—Gov. Melvin E. Thompson declared today that Herman Talmadge and his political associates no longer had the right to speak for the Democratic party and branded the Talmadge-sponsored "white supremacy" legislation as an invitation to fraud and stolen elections.

In a speech prepared for a joint session of the Georgia legislature, just 24 hours after the State Supreme Court had rejected Talmadge's claim to the governorship, Thompson said:

CROWDED DAYS!

There are so many things to do,
Dear Lord, Thou knowest.

So many little things
To claim the heart and hand.
Help us, Lord, to know
The ones that Thou bestowest,

And choose among the many deeds

With hearts that understand.

O, give us wisdom, Master,

Lest we choose a lesser duty.

And fail to see the greater ones

That throng about our way.

Lord, give us clearer vision

That we may know the beauty

Of Thy great purpose in our life

More clearly every day.

There are so many things to do,

Lord make us strong and brave, and true!

DUMMIT RULES ON HEALTH COURSES

Frankfort, Ky., March 20.—Belief that objections for religious reasons are sufficient to exempt children taking the courses in health and physical education required in Kentucky's Public Schools was expressed today by Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit.

The State Board of Education last December adopted a code requiring such courses and specifying that each child upon first entering school and every four years afterwards must submit to a medical or physical test.

The Attorney General said the Board's action had the force of law and that claims of religious objections would not excuse pupils from submitting to the examination. The education courses are given in the high schools.

The State's police powers are broad enough to cover enforcement of the examinations, Dummit said. But the question of requiring religious objectors to take the examinations has caused us most difficulty, he added. Under the religious freedom clauses of the State and Federal Constitutions from the courses must be allowed so long as they do not disrupt the school curriculum."

The opinion was given to Hamilton Tapp, Director of Health Education in the State Education Department. Tapp said the questions had been raised in some school.

"Those who sought to seize the state of Georgia for their selfish ends and who undertook to prostitute the democratic platform to extend their own reign, now have no right to speak for the democratic party."

"Their program is not the people's program. It is not the democratic program, it is not my program. No selfish group can exploit Georgia, and no selfish group will ever control Georgia so long as elections are free."

Thompson who must pass on 151 bills apparently signed illegally by Talmadge, indicated he might veto Talmadge's number one measure the so-called 'White Primary' bill.

He declared, however, he favored restoration of the democratic white primary, and asked enactment of legislation which would set rigid education requirements for voting and provide separate voting booths for white persons and negroes.

Thompson turned stinging rebuke on Talmadge for his attempt to bar negroes from the polls by removing primaries from state control and making them subject only to party rules which could exclude any voter. White or negro. If not acceptable to the party.

Coast Guard Announces Cadet Examinations

New York, March 20.—The United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., is accepting applicants for the 1947 entrance examination, Admiral Joseph F. Farley, Coast Guard Commandant announced today.

Applicants must be between the ages of 17 and 22. Physical requirements include 20-20 vision and a minimum height of five feet and six inches. High school scholastic requirements include two years of algebra, one year of plane geometry, three years of English and one year of physics. For the first time, trigonometry will not be required.

Applicants for the examination will be accepted until March 31st. The tests will be held May 7th, and 8th, in key cities throughout the United States to be announced later.

Those who qualify will not need Congressional appointment for acceptance to the Academy, the Commandant said.

After four years of intensive training, cadets are graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering and commissioned as United States Coast Guard ensigns.

New London Is U. S. Guard Academy

When we think of military academies most of us think only of West Point and Annapolis. Overlooked in the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., one of the finest engineering schools in the nation.

In time of war the Academy turns out officers ready for action in any theatre of operations. In time of peace it produces officers trained for a worthwhile lifetime career of protecting lives and property.

While acquiring a vast engineering background on one of the most picturesque campuses in the country, Coast Guard cadets also are preparing to take their places among the most respected members of the community.

Such is the thought that comes to mind with the announcement of the 1947 Academy entrance examination.

Not many can qualify for the Coast Guard Academy. Physical and educational requirements are identical with those at West Point and Annapolis. However, appointment is by competitive examination and not by congressional appointment.

Every American youth with the proper qualifications owes it to himself, his family, his country to investigate his chances of becoming a Coast Guard officer. Applicants will be received until April 1. Further information is available at Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C.

Home Going of Aunt Rachel Dixon

Rachel E., the daughter of the late Levi and Easter Caudill Eldridge, born October 15, 1854, three and one half miles east of Blackey, Ky., on Rockhouse Creek.

On March 20, 1947, at 1:00 a.m. she went to her reward. The last one of her family of four brothers and eight sisters, age ninety-two years five months and five days.

She defied the span of life decreed in his prayer of David, when he said in the 90th Psalm that the days of our years are three score years and ten. She has even gone farther and exceeded the next limit, set out in the prayer that says, "And if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength labor, and sorrow." She knew the meaning of labor and sorrow, but never complained.

This Christian pioneer of the mountains, had graduated from the school of hard knocks and received her diploma from the college of experience, many years ago. During her more than four score years in dealing with neighbors, she leaves behind her, no enemies. This is a record seldom equaled if ever.

These relatives and a great host of friends can hardly overcome the shock of realizing the stillness of this body, that has been among them so long.

She has passed over into a world of which we know so little, but heard so much spoken about. Though we have no doubt about the resting place of this soul, it will be found resting upon the right hand of God in judgment, when books of the recording angel are opened, there will be no difficulty in making a decision.

As I write, this thought came to me, "To die is gain," is it probable, that when Aunt Rachel goes through the gates of Paradise, would Uncle John meet her and ask, are the children coming on to be with us?

She was married to John W. Dixon, 1889, was left a widow in 1903. She reared her children to be respected and honored by those who knew them. Those surviving her are Hiram, Knoxville, Tenn., Polly Ann, Mary, Pearl B. and Rebecca. Cinda and Gideon preceded her in death many years ago.

HORRIBLE MURDER

The body was recovered by Sgt. Keesling Hogg of the Kentucky Military Police, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Collins of Perry County, aided by hooks brought over by R. L. Lester, Chief of Police of the Town of Jenkins.

Wilful murder warrants have been placed against three Fort Knox soldiers, all now in custody, in connection with the clubbing and drowning. At this time the prisoners have been taken to Winchester, Ky., for safe keeping.

The soldiers, previously identified as fugitives from a stockade at Fort Knox, were in separate jails. They are:

Jasper Nease, 21, son of Brent Nease of McRoberts, was the last to be taken into custody, he was held for a while in Whitesburg, Jail but has been removed.

Daniel T. McPeak, said by

Sgt. Curtis Hall of the Kentucky Highway Patrol detachment at Hazard to have confessed participating in the slaying was taken to the Person County jail.

Herbert H. Workman, 18,

Tesla, West Va., is in custody

at Braxton County jail in Sutton, W. Va.

Sheriff Herman Combs of

Letcher County and Patrolman Tommy Eversole of the highway detachment said that Nease and Workman likely would be brought to Hazard for trial.

The recovery of Hodge's body by State Officers John Gose, Jim Short, and Keesling Hogg, followed a search touched off Saturday afternoon by the announced confession of McPeak. The officers stated that they found Nease on Amburgey Creek in Knott County near the Carr Creek church. They had trailed him through the woods for many miles.

McPeak had been arrested by Virginia highway patrolmen at his home in Dublin, Pulaski County, Saturday afternoon. Officers seized young Nease near Dusky, Saturday night on Amburgey Creek, near the Little Carr Baptist Church in Knott County.

Before the arrest of Nease, his father Brent Nease, and Eugene Scott, 23, of McRoberts were also arrested after they had been seen driving with the younger Nease before he disappeared from the home at McRoberts. The Packard coupe was taken into custody by Johnny Belcher, Chief of Police of Neon on information furnished by his Deputy Gene Adkins.

Both Brack Nease and Scott are in the Letcher jail at Whitesburg on warrants charging them with auto theft.

Workman was arrested by West Virginia State police Saturday afternoon. Officers seized young Nease near Dusky, Saturday night on Amburgey Creek, near the Little Carr Baptist Church in Knott County.

Here is the story as pieced together with the arrests and the McPeak confession as related by Sergeant Hall:

After overpowering a guard and taking his weapon at the Fort Knox reservation, McPeak, Nease, and Workman fled toward Louisville.

Two miles west of the city Hodge stopped to give them a hitch, and Nease immediately ordered Hodge from the driver's seat, taking the wheel.

McPeak moved in on the other side, and Workman took the back seat.

Gag Put In Mouth

East of Louisville, Hall quoted from the confession, they bound Hodges feet and hands, and placed a gag in his mouth. Then they drove to Perry County, arriving shortly after midnight on March 15.

It was near Viper, McPeak said, that they decided to "get rid" of Hodge who was forced to the water edge.

Previously they had forced Nease to change to their khaki prison garb.

Hodge, still tied and gagged, was weighted with a 25-pound stone. But after he was pushed into the water the stone came untied. Though his feet still were bound, he started to kick from the bank and managed to stand up some distance off shore and shout for help.

Workman and Nease called to him to come toward them, and said they would help him. But after struggling toward shore, according to McPeak, Hodge was struck on the head with a carbine by Workman. Hodge tumbled back in the water.

Afterward the three soldiers separated.

Young Hodge's feet still were bound by a belt when the body was found, but knotted handkerchiefs had come loose from his hands and about his neck. According to those present his neck looked blue as though he had been choked.

The body was removed to a Hazard funeral home where an inquest will be held.

Dr. Boaz Adkins noted the shiny metal object on the highway near his home on Sandlick which turned out to be Hodge's dog tags which he had while serving in the Army. The dog tag proved to be a valuable clue in tracking down the criminals.

Dr. Adkins had read earlier of the disappearance of Hodge and he turned the tags over to Sheriff Herman C. Combs who returned to the spot where Deputy Jim Short also found a letter addressed to Workman at Fort Knox. This letter also proved to be of great assistance.

Escapes Confirmed

A check with Fort Knox authorities followed, and it was confirmed that Workman had escaped with the two other soldiers.

Officers Belcher and Adkins discovered the car, which had been repainted from yellow to black. The repainting of the fine car in the back yard of the elder Nease home gave rise to suspicion. This also aided in the arrest of Jasper Nease and Eugene Scott who had been seen riding in the car.

Among those who visited their parents during between term vacation from schools and colleges the past week were Owen Adams, Carroll Hogg, John Palumbo, Tommy Gish, J. H. Hall, Ed Hogg, Cecil Caudill, Wesley Amburgey, S. T. Wright, Newton Cornett, Jack Cornett, Roy Raymond and Lucile Crawford, John Crawford, James McAuley, Jack Lewis, from U. of K.; from Millersburg Military Institute: T. Lee Adams, Ikey Hall, Hopper, Martin and A. F. Danner.

THINK WITH ME

THE GOLDEN TEXT

For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life.—John 3:16.

The Divine love to the whole of humanity in its condition of supreme need, that is, apart from himself and his grace, has been of such a commanding exhaustless immeasurable kind that it was equal to any emergency, and able to secure for the worst and most degraded, from the outcast, the serpent-bitten and the dying, a means of unlimited deliverance and uplifting. The Divine love is the sublime source of the whole proceeding, and it has been lavished on "the World." This could not be a world limited by beliefs, creeds, philosophies, or nationalities. This world is every race, color, creed.

Calvin said, "Christ brought life, because the heavenly Father loves the human race, and wishes that they could not perish." Pharisaic interpretations of the Old Testament had left the outside world in judgment, to cursing and punishment, and had made Abrahamic descent and sacramental privilege the conditions of life and honour and royal freedom. The world is the object of such love. The Father "gave" His only "begotten Son" as Abraham had not kept back his only son from God, so God has not withheld His perfect Image, His Well-beloved His Eternal Logos, the perfect ideal of sonship. He gave Him with the following view: "that whosoever believeth in Him may not perish, but have eternal life."

Perishing, ruin, the issues of poisonous corruption, might and would, by the force of natural law, work themselves out in the destinies of men. The awful curse was spreading, but it may be arrested. None need be excluded. Appropriation of such a Divine gift emanci-

THE HILLS OF OLD KENTUCKY

by Paul Clay Stallard
In the hills of old Kentucky,

Where the Rhododendron grow

Is a place that's more like heaven

Than any place I know.

In the spring the flowers bloom lovely

In the glades and o'er the rills

And the life seems more abundant

Here in these Kentucky hills

You can have your plains and canyons

For they all, no doubt have thrills,

But for me a perfect peace is found in these Kentucky hills.

When I take my last departure

From this old earthly clime,

Bury me up in these mountains

In the shadow of the pine.

THUS IS LIFE

by Mary Gwynn

I choose for my subject the life of an equine A subject that to me seems especially fine.

He started his life on an open range, He looked on a world to him, cold and strange.

His mother nestled him softly with her nose, And after many feeble attempts, he arose,

He stood on legs, wobbly, unsure and weak,

The soft spring air seemed frightening and bleak,

He took one step and then took another,

And warmed to the soft, proud praise of his mother.

After awhile he turned, to his mother for food, Life-giving food that flowed warm and good, Thus the beginning of a life—soon to end.

A life to end before it hardly began, The panther stands crouched, baiting its breath, It jumps—the shiny colt screams—then The silence of death!

KENTUCKY MOUNTAINS

by Ervine Banks

In the heart of old Kentucky Far from vast and rolling plain

Stands the mountains, tall and rugged

Where the eagle used to reign.

There, one's eyes are filled with wonder At the beauty rich and rare, The trees, blossoms, hills and valleys, Beauteous things that all can share.

There it is God's spirit dwelleth

In each great and lofty height,

Where he painted nature's pictures,

Symbols of his love and might.

MY PHILOSOPHY ON LIFE AND RELIGION

by Sue Day

We come into this world naked and have all created free and equal. We do not become accountable for our sins until we are old enough to know right from wrong. We live in a country where one is permitted to worship God as he or she pleases. That's why our fathers sailed over on the Mayflower. For freedom to worship God. The Bible was written for us to study and to live by as nearly as we can in the way we understand it. Very few understand the word of God alike. For instance some people say "money is the root of all evil," but that is not right. The use of money is the root of all evil. Others believe it's a sin to be rich. Nay, not so. God didn't mean for the rich man to give all of his earthly riches to feed the poor. He was setting the man's heart to see how good he was. If you earn your riches honestly and use them wisely and live within the shadow of the cross, God doesn't care how wealthy you are. Nor does He bar you from the pearly gates. God is likened to an honest merchant. If you buy a long list of groceries on credit, go back later and pay for two or three items the merchant if he is honest will cancel and mark paid all you pay for and he will not enter them back on his book. When you pray for forgiveness for sins and God forgives you, He doesn't re-enter them against you, unless you commit them again. No person needs to enter his name with any church unless that person is forgiven of all sins and feels that he can live within the shadow of the cross. God speaks against hypocrites. A sinner outside the church, who lives the Bible the best of his ability and in the way he understands it, but knows he isn't quite good enough to be in any church is in my estimation, far better off than a hypocrite. Reputation is what people say we are. Character is what God knows we are. I once attended a church where a minister said, "all who are saved and are serving God, hold up your hand," "all those serving Satan and bound for hell, hold up hands." No earthly human with good common horse sense is serving Satan because he wants to. One Christian lady said, "You're too strict on your boys." "You take too much pains with them." "How do you know what they'll be when they are men?" I don't know, but I want to do my best for God says, "train a child in the way he should be and when he is grown, he will not depart from it." If one goes wrong after I've done my best no one can truthfully say, "They have been only half raised. If we try to live close to God, our conscience keeps us closely informed of things we do that are wrong. That's God's voice warning us. If God shows you it's wrong to cut your hair or use make-up, then it's wrong. But if he doesn't, then it isn't wrong. If we keep mentally and spiritually and bodily clean, God doesn't mind if we use cosmetics in a natural looking way and dress neatly and as nicely as we can afford. It's wrong to argue the Word of God, but it is not wrong to explain to others how you understand His Word and its right for you to live the Bible as nearly as possible, the way you understand it. Live the very best life you can. When you pray, don't just ask for things; but thank God for all his blessings. If you know you are right with God, join your favorite church, until such time, you are safer a praying sinner outside than a "Sunday - go - to - meeting" "Christian", using His church as a curtain to hide behind. For God knows how we all stand.

BEGIN TODAY!

Dream not too much of what you'll do tomorrow, How well you'll work perhaps another year; Tomorrow's chance you do not need to borrow— Today is here!

Boast not too much of mountains you will master, The while you linger in the vale below, To dream is well, but plodding brings us faster To where we go.

Plan not some day to break some habit's fetter When this old year is dead and passed away; If you have need of living wiser—better— Begin today!

PRECIOUS MEMORIES

While the time is swiftly My thoughts wander back through the years, To the by-gone days of my girlhood With its hopes, its dreams, its cares.

Old friends bring memories Of the years gone by, Of joyful days in childhood, As I sadly ponder why.

I loved the way-worn pilgrim That wearied along the road But God's love was greater. He said, "Lay down thy heavy load."

There's many a day so dreary But God can make it bright, Unto the heart that is broken He giveth peace at night.

There's never a sin nor sorrow, There's never a pain nor loss, But that we may bring to Jesus, And leave at the foot of the cross.

As I stand and gaze through my window, I can see the soft moonlight true. Somehow when I think of yester-years I feel more sad and blue.

There will be no disappointment in heaven, Death will come no more, We will sing praises to the Saviour, And worship him for evermore.

The gates are of pearl, The streets are pure gold, and the city lies four-square, I have so many love ones gone on. I'm longing to be up there.

I do not know what waits for me, but without Jesus I cannot stand, But I do know beyond the vale There is a better land.

There are so many things to remind me Of the sorrow and joys we would see,

Why it is I do not know, Somehow was just to be.

But time goes on, brings changes, That help us to see our way. They have answered the call in heaven, I hope to see them some sweet day.

As the years come and go, I grow older, soon my love ones I shall see, I'll share their mansions in heaven,

For I know they must be waiting for me.

MAY PURE DEVOTION
RISE

"Oh thou, whose own vast temple stands, Built over earth and sea, Accept the walls that human hands

Have raised to worship Thee.

Lord, from Thine inmost glory send, Within these courts to bide The peace that dwelleth with out end, Serenely by Thy side!

May erring minds that worship here Be taught the better way; And they who mourn and they who fear,

Be strengthened as they pray.

May faith grow firm, and love grow warm,

And pure devotion rise, While round these hallowed walls the storm

Of earth-born passion dies

Birthday Dinner

Honoring S-Sgt. Webb

A birthday dinner honoring S-Sgt. D. O. Webb, U. S. Navy Recruiting Officer in New Castle, Ind., was given March 17, 1947 at his home in New Castle. Everything imaginable that was good was served.

His mother, Mrs. Howard Logan, and brother, Rufus Webb of North Vernon were with him, also his sister, Mrs. Raleigh Bates. All reported a nice dinner and an enjoyable life.

4. Trust in Divine Providence—which gives true content in this life and confidence for the soul in the life hereafter.

5. The consecration of work in unity and sincerity of purpose.

6. Humility—arising from contemplation of Divine grandeur; it teaches patience and charitableness.

7. Repentance—the recognition of sin, the resolution of reform and change of heart.

8. Self-Examination—which dwells on the exalted state of the soul that acquires spiritual knowledge by intuition.

9. The ascetic life (discipline in living). Sanctified by the institution of the Nazarene and regarded as the most salutary discipline of the soul.

10. Love of God—which is life's aim. The soul's longing for its Maker, whose service is contained in the Law, is not a burden but a joy.

When God gave the law to Moses, the first commandment was, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," Exodus 20:3. Different things fill our hearts, and our thoughts, till, there is no room in our lives for God.

I do not believe in backsliding and falling from grace, but I know, if there is an idol in my heart, I can not feel the Spirit of God. He expected first place in the hearts of His people, when He said, "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." May we trust Him to take all idols out of our hearts, that we can worship only Him, the true and living God.

MILES NERVINE

"Behind The Scenes
In American Business"
By Reynolds Knight

New York, March 17.—Soaring wheat prices are boosting the income of American farmers, but those who have been through previous advances know that one day prices will drop as quickly as they have risen. The question is when will the down-trend begin. The answer seems to lie in foreign production. France, Germany and Italy each produce, under normal conditions, more wheat than Australia. In prewar years Europe (except Russia) grew nearly twice as much as Australia, Argentina and Canada combine. If normal crop production is achieved abroad next year, the United States probably would not export more than a fraction of the estimated 350 million bushels shipped abroad this season. A substantial contraction in our exports would soon build up surpluses here and depress wheat prices. For that reason, wheat growers would do well to watch foreign crop figures for a hint of future price trends here.

Bigger Dollars—Most basic U. S. industries are now well along with a three-fold program to lift the real value of wages—that is, to increase the purchasing power of the wage dollar. One objective is to increase productivity. Another is installation of more efficient machinery. A third is intensified research and development. The determination with which industry is pursuing these objectives is confirmed by William L. Batt, president of SKF Industries, Inc., which supplies ball and roller bearings for machines used in every type of manufacturing and therefore a good post to discern trends in the making throughout U. S. industry. "A prime factor in industry's planning," Batt says, "is to keep wages as high as possible because the worker, no matter how far removed from manufacturing processes, is a customer, directly or indirectly, for all of industry's goods, and services." Pointing out that there are relatively few people now willing to pay exorbitant prices, he emphasizes that labor must cooperate wholeheartedly with management to perfect ways of making products at prices that will continue to attract customers and create jobs and wages.

Things To Come—An air pressure cylinder, containing sufficient air to inflate three flat tires. It is small enough to carry in the glove compartment of your automobile. . . . A bread knife with an adjustable guide which makes it possible to cut slices in even thicknesses. . . . The direction and velocity of the wind may be registered in the house with a new weather vane and windmill set up outside with a dial in the house. . . . Scissors with replaceable blades. Extra blades may be sharpened while substitutes are used. . . . Rubber gloves with non-skid palms, eliminating the weakness of slippery fingers. . . . A new pan cleaner, stronger than previous compounds which cleans down to the heel of the brush without injuring bristles or hands. It is said to be equally efficient in removing hardened paint, lacquer, varnish, shellac or enamel.

From Bait To Delicacy—Rosefish, the bait of fishermen for generations now rates top honors among the reaching new highs in all finny tribes with Lenten demand for the ocean perch sections of the country. A little more than a decade ago New England fishermen returned to Dewey Jones all the rosefish that were snared by the trawler's nets. Then it was discovered that the ocean perch was not only an epicurean delight but it contained a abundant supply of vitamins and minerals. To the Yankee fisherman, that added up to plenty of mazuma! Returning trawlers docked with their holds bulging with the red-robed finny fellows. From an estimated annual haul of 1,000,000 pounds, rosefish jumped to more than 100,000,000 pounds. Eight years ago the A and P stores for example, used less than 100 pounds of rosefish a year, and that was used only for window decoration. Today, the food chain handles better than 5,000,000 pounds of rosefish fillets, equivalent to more than 20,000,000 pounds of whole fish, according to Edward Sawyer, head of the company's national fish department. The big boom to the lowly perch came when a load was shipped to the midwest market when lake fish were scarce a half dozen years ago. The taste similes the fresh water favorites won new friends for the fellow from the briny deep.

HUNGARY, RUMANIA
OPEN TO CARE; NEW PACKAGE OFFERED

New York, N. Y., March 15, 1947.—Extension of Care's service to Hungary and Rumania and the addition of a woolen textile package to the food and blanket parcels that Americans are sending to Europe by the hundreds of thousands were announced this week as the latest steps in the rapidly expanding program of CARE, non-profit, government-approved cooperative organization at 50 Broad Street, New York.

The amusement was made by Paul Comly French, CARE's general manager who said that warehouses in Hungary and Rumania are being set up now, "and as soon as is humanly possible we will stock pile the packages and begin deliveries. But it is reasonable to anticipate that there will be a delay of some weeks before actual deliveries can begin."

The new woolen textile package, like the food and blanket parcels, may be ordered at CARE's headquarters, at a cost of $10 or $10, with delivery to designated individuals or groups guaranteed. It contains 3 1/2 yards of 100 per cent woolen fabric, 56 to 58 inches wide, a 14-ounce herringbone weave, sufficient for a full suit of clothing for a large man; 2 yards of cotton drill; 500 yards of thread; one packet of needles; one thimble; 3 large buttons and 15 small buttons.

Other countries besides Hungary and Rumania to which the packages may be sent are Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, and Germany (American, British and France zones and all of Berlin). By signed agreements with the governments of each of these countries, CARE packages are admitted free of all duty, tax and ration regulations.

That CARE offers "the only sure and efficient way of sending packages to friends and relatives in Europe" is the testimony of former President Herbert Hoover, one of the nation's highest authorities in the task of aiding war-torn peoples. Mr. Hoover recently made a tour of Germany at the request of President Truman to determine the extent of food needs in that country.

In a telegram to CARE's general manager, Mr. Hoover wrote that having had "the opportunity to see CARE's operation on the ground," he was convinced that "anyone who wishes to serve friends relatives or institutions served by CARE now has a sure way. In fact, there is no other way where there is real certainty that such packages will reach their destination."

The food package contains basic supplies practically unobtainable in many European

Housing Shortage
Aggravated By Forest Fires

Frankfort, Ky., March 5.—The shortage of forest products is one of the most critical of our peacetime problems, and man-made forest fires are a real factor in that shortage, according to State Forester H. B. Newland, Frankfort, who today announced the opening of Kentucky Forestry Week and the nation-wide Forest Fire Prevention program for 1947. The housing situation highlights this shortage, he said, but in addition to lumber there is urgent for wood for such things as newsprint, ties, poles, barrel staves, furniture, alcohols and plastics.

The State Forester points out that Kentucky averaged more than 5000 forest and woods fires in peacetime years and that besides destroying enough big trees to make 8000 two-bedroom houses, these fires killed billions of little trees that would otherwise have made more homes and jobs for tomorrow. In 1946, 4,500 fires burned 319,000 acres of Kentucky's forests.

"It will be the same old story again this year unless each one of us wakes up to the big cause of forest fires, and does something about it," he said, "because 9 out of every 10 forest fires are man-caused—started deliberately, sometimes, for spite or personal gain, or by people who carelessly throw away lighted matches or cigarettes or leave campfires, or debris fires before they are dead out."

To save forests and jobs for veterans—and their favorite hunting and fishing and campaigning areas, everybody must be more careful with fire when clearing land or burning trash this year, and with matches, cigarettes, and picnic fires, according to forestry officials. And the best way to be careful, they say, is to remember these rules:

(1) Hold your match till it's cold—then pinch it to make sure; (2) Crush out your cigarette, your cigar, your pipe ashes. Then, when lands. There are 2 pounds of meat; 7 pounds of flour; 2 pounds of sugar, and a like amount of vegetable shortening, chocolate and dried milk powder; 1 pound each of dried apricots, prunes and coffee; a half pound of dried egg powder and 6 ounces of soap.

The extent to which these foods are adaptable to the accustomed diets in the various countries was recently demonstrated in Washington when the chefs of the 12 countries served by CARE prepared native dishes and served them to a distinguished gathering of diplomats and government officials. Mr. French received the congratulations of the many foreign representatives on the skill with which the package was designed to meet the needs of families abroad.

Also proving popular with Americans eager to aid friends and relatives is the blanket package, which includes two all-wool blankets suitable for conversion into clothing or for use as bedding; needles, thread, buttons, safety pins, scissors and thimbles. Designs for clothing are available. Two pairs of composition soles and heels for repairing shoes are included in the packages.

Orders should be sent to CARE's headquarters at 50 Broad Street, New York 4, N. Y., accompanied by check or money order of $10 for each package, and the names and addresses of both the sender and the beneficiary should be included.

Farmers did a fine job getting out wood for war. But with better management and fewer fires, farm woodlands can produce 100 per cent more of forest products and make one million additional jobs available. So do your part—be more careful, cigarettes, with matches, cigarettes and camp fires and picnic fires in all woodland and forest areas.

Federal spending has reached the stage—30 to 40 billions a year—where if all the income retained by the "rich" after present tax payments were seized, it would not make a noticeable dent in the tax burden. As one analyst has very modestly summed up the problem: "Congress...

therefore is having to face the hard fact that it takes a broad taxpayer base to support high-cost government." The Pied Piper has played a merry tune and the little people who have followed him will soon know what the inside of the mountain looks like.

LETTER TO EDITOR
Savannah, Ga.,
March 14, 1947.

Dear Sir:

We have been in Savannah, Ga., for 10 days and expect to run on down to Glenwood, Florida next Tuesday. It has been a little chilly here all the time. However, we hope it will be warmer in Florida.

We bought a new house trailer and we are at home anywhere and like it fine. We hope to be in Florida for three months and will appreciate it if you will change our address for the Mountain Eagle to Glenwood, Florida, Box 76. We miss the old Eagle and looking forward to receiving it next week for which I thank you.

Yours very truly,
W. B. DAY.

SETTLEMENT FOR UNUSED LEAVE MUST BE FILED AT ONCE

Claims for settlement of unused leave due deceased veterans of World War II must be filed before September 1, 1947, Veterans Administration officials emphasized today.

Although the armed services, not the VA, administer benefits under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946, VA representatives will assist with procurement and preparation of necessary forms.

Applicants should bring with them discharge certificates or photostatic copies thereof.

Three Mayking school students accompanied by their teacher, Mr. G. Bennett Adams visited the Eagle office on Friday, the first day of Spring. They were Billie Collins, Ronnie Kincer, and Beryle Polly. While here they got an idea of how printing is done—also placed an order for their School Annual. The Anchor, which will record the school activities of the past year.

Our Educational System Should Build Up

Elizabethtown, Ky., March 12.—"Outstanding social and political problem of Kentucky is to build up our educational system so that we stand second to no other state in the character of our rural schools the efficacy of our farm production, and the health and happiness of our people," declared Samuel R. Guard, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture when he spoke before the annual meeting of the Hardin County Purebred Livestock Association, before the annual meeting of the Hardin County Purebred Livestock Association in Joplin Hotel here last night.

Mr. Guard laid down six planks in what he called his platform for farm progress in Kentucky." His half-dozen points are as follows:

1. Elevate the Kentucky Department of Agriculture from a minor to a major division of the state government, improving its service to the farmers and to all the people of the commonwealth.

2. Rebuild the Kentucky State Fair under continuing non-political management as a year-round educational institution and convention center.

3. Help the University of Kentucky to become even more serviceable among the land-grant colleges of the nation for both research and instruction in Agriculture, Forestry, Veterinary Medicine and allied topics.

4. Build up Kentucky as the nation's outstanding nursery for the production of improved livestock, seeds and specialty crops, marketing what we produce for what it is worth.

5. Help expand foreign and domestic markets for tobacco, and assist tobacco farmers in working out a fair adjustment and marketing program.

6. Aid in every way possible the attainment of a rural school system second to none in the nation. This means wage increases for well trained teachers. It means farm-to-market roads, rural electrification, adult education, adequate medical supervision and the development of our matchless Kentucky handicrafts.

The candidate for the agricultural commissionership, who lives in Louisville and edits 'Breeder's Gazette' from his office at Bourbon Stock Yards, said that he would develop each of these points in subsequent talks which he expects to make in various sections of the state before the August primary.

DEUS in the WORLD of RELIGION

BY W.M. RICCI

Sundays, May 4, May 11, and May 18 will be variously observed in Protestant churches as "Rural Life Sunday" when city and country churches will emphasize the value of the farm and the farmer in American life and economics. The confusion of dates comes from the fact that the observance is usually on Rogation Sunday; and this year that date, May 11, also happens to be Mother's Day. The Home Missions Council of North America is sponsoring the observance, which in some churches will take the form of blessing and dedicating seed.

For the first time in its more than a century and a half of service, the Methodist Church, through its top leaders, will sit down in Lincoln, Nebraska, July 29, 30 and 31 to consider the problems of the rural communities and rural churches of America, and what the Methodist Church should do about it. "The National Methodist Rural Life Conference" has been called for that time and place by the Council of Bishops of the church, together with the Board of Missions and Church Extension. All the bishops, district superintendents, representative pas-

"Christians today face a tremendous competition with anti-christian ideas and causes being served by millions with fanatical zeal," said Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick recently in New York. "Just on the basis of this public motive, I want some decisions here. I want to crash the gate of life, where Christ and His truth are being treated with polite unconcern, in a world where Anti-christ is being taken in earnest. The man or woman to whom I am talking may for years have been a church member. Statistics of church membership prove nothing. Church membership may mean only a polite bow to Christ, and one goes his way to farm and merchandise.

Within recent months the Methodist Church, through its "Crusade for Christ" funds has spent one million dollars for relief and rehabilitation among the churches and church people in Europe; but this, according to missionary secretary, Dr. Ralph E. Difendorfer, of New York is but a fraction of the moneys that must be given in addition to what Europeans themselves give. "The resources of thousands of European parishes will be taxed for years to repair and rebuild their damaged and destroyed churches," he says. "Methodists alone need five million dollars for this purpose. For months to come there will be the need of relief for refugees displaced persons and orphans, with food, clothing and material aid, a task which the church can never leave entirely to government agencies, UNRRA is finishing its secular relief mission, but the church must always be ready to administer physical relief in emergencies."

Clothing, food and soap—in that order—made the bulk of the four and half million pounds of relief materials which twenty-six American Protestant denominations sent overseas in 1946 through the shipping center of Church World Service, at New Windsor, Maryland. Of the total shipments, which went to every nation in Europe to which authorities would permit shipments, as well as to China, Japan and the Philippines, 3,105,000 pounds were in clothing of all kinds, 1,359,000 pounds in food, mostly canned and 18,640 pounds of commercial soap, 52,000 pounds of homemade soap, and 4,267 pounds of candles.

There is urgent need for a new type of evangelism—an evangelism that will reach families, and tribes, and communities in America and across the world—says a committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Kenneth S. Latourette of Yale, recently reporting to the Foreign Missions Conference of North America. "In countries which have escaped the actual sufferings of war, self-love and insistence upon personal gain and comfort without regard to the welfare of others seem to be the prevailing moods," says the report. "Crime and juvenile delinquency are reaching unprecedented proportions. Man has become possessed of the greatest destructive power in history and is fearful lest he use it to bring about the suicide of civilization. In almost all countries where foreign mission work is carried on, the immensely greater numbers in the general population mean that there are more non-Christians today than there were half a century ago."

The Public Convenience

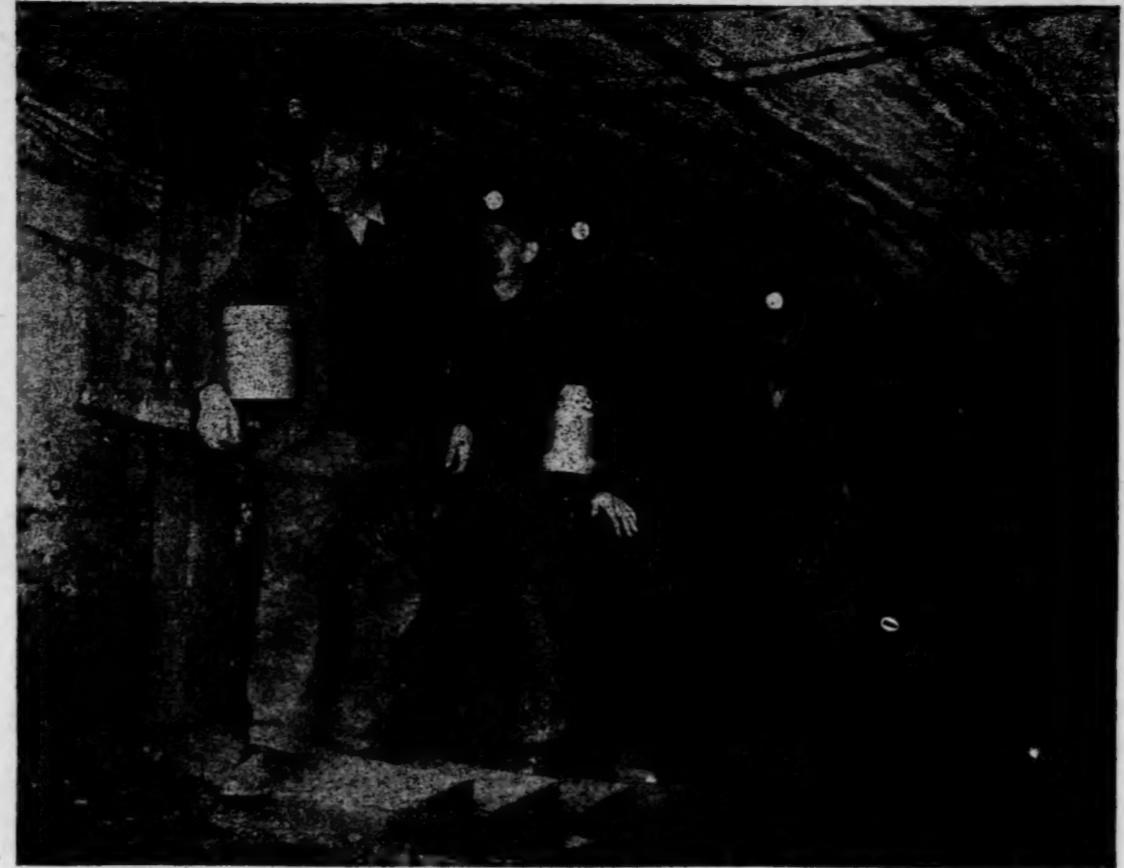

There has been some controversy on the subject of closing retail stores certain days of the week. Various authorities have debated the pros and cons at length. The statisticians have come up with wage and hour studies. But, in the long run, the issues come solidly to the question of public custom and public convenience.

An interesting sidelight on this phase of the problem was recently cast by the editor of the Appleton, Minnesota Press, who wrote: "It is none of my business, perhaps, but it seems to me that the merchants of smaller communities and towns are taking a big hunk of pleasure out of life in their communities by heading into a program of closing their places of business on Saturday night. For local and rural residents going into town on Saturday night is an institution as long standing as the Saturday night bath, and as beneficial to improved social relations. There isn't anything I can think of at the moment that does as much for keeping town and country contacts, which so many talk of as important, on a sound basis."

The shopping habits of the American people, like most socioeconomic habits, are established and ingrained. We are accustomed to being able to buy what we want when we want it. We are used to the working schedules that have long been followed by the vast majority of retail stores of all kinds. A store, like a utility, is definitely a public service institution. Its main stock in trade is public goodwill—which is based on how well it meets the public convenience.

The typical retail worker certainly isn't an exploited, overworked person. He puts in reasonable hours, and his pay has continually tended upward. Any plan which would substantially alter the operation of retail business must be weighed in the light of what the public needs and expects.

MANY YEARS WITH CONSOLIDATION

Arriving at the top of the slope at the end of the day's work at Mine 155, is John Sotnikoff, trackman, with Consolidation Coal Co. 32 years; Charlie Bell, trackman, with company 36 years, with no lost time accidents; Miltie Castle, timberman with company 22 years; and Marion Ward, timberman, with company 22 years.

Stuart Robinson School Highlights

Last Wednesday Stuart Robinson was host to the leaders of Private Schools in Eastern Kentucky. The group consisted of thirty-five men and women who served as directors, superintendents, principals, secretaries, farm managers, construction men and ministers. There were eleven schools represented. Among them were: Oneida, Frenchburg, Hazel Green, Pine Ridge, Highland, Annville, Pine Mountain, Hindman and Red Bird.

Mrs. S. Knox, matron of our girl's dormitory will be in Louisville and Georgetown this week.

Work on cleaning the right of way for the L. and N. Railroad Company through Stuart Robinson School farm goes forward from day to day. There is quite a bit of timber and two buildings to be moved as well as fences.

Misses Joyce Campbell and Anita Asher spent the week end at home. These two young ladies are graduates of Stuart Robinson School and are now at Montreal College, at Montreal, N. C.

Walter Pettis, new construction man of Stuart Robinson was initiated into the Whitesburg Rotary Club last Friday.

Presbytery's Home Mission Committee and the church at Blackey have recently purchased the home of Mrs. John D. W. Collins, for a manse.

Store Get Their Faces Lifted

Junior Dawahare, who is employed at Dawahare Department store in Pikeville, spent the week end here at the home of his father. During the war and the period immediately following the retail trade business, like all other civilian enterprise, was static. Priorities and shortages of materials prevented physical improvement and new building. Competent workers were as scarce as hens' teeth. Stock and goods were limited, and many a once-common item disappeared from the shelves.

Now American merchandising is making up for those war-created deficiencies. Once again, store employees are learning the importance of courtesy and competence. Inventories are being expanded, as the production machine gradually swings back into high gear and advances the throttle. Stores are going in for face-lifting of a revolutionary character.

ustrated article on "Modern Markets" which showed a number of new food stores built or remodeled by various chain systems. They cater to customer convenience to an unprecedented degree. Everything the human mind can conceive of is being done to make shopping pleasanter and more convenient to the ultimate consumer. Departments are clearly delineated. Displays are amazingly varied. Fixtures and appliances are of the most modern type. The self-service idea predominates and the buyer can get what he wants with a minimum of effort—and a minimum of ease.

The same trend is evident in department stores, variety stores and others—all are enthusiastically competing to give the consumer a better place in which to shop. This is one phase of the effort to better serve the public all along the line—to provide the most possible for today's depreciated money.

Kentucky spends approximately $50 per student per year while the national average is about $105, he pointed out, and in Kentucky only 41 per cent of the children of high school age are in school as compared with the national average of 70 per cent.

Poem by Carroll H. Shadeford, Senior WHS.

Springtime

Springtime comes but once a year,
Bringing hte birds, we love to hear,
The bluebird with its cheery cry,
Singing on the hill close by.

The cardinal is the first to sing,
And tell us of the coming spring,
When trees awake from winter's sleep,
They find grass growing at their feet.

The bob white calls to his mate
The mocking bird sings 'till late,
The robin with her bright red breast
In the maple builds her nest.

The grass adorns the hills with green
And many other plants are seen
Mother natures bells begin to ring,
They seem to say wake up its spring.

"There are strange ways of serving God;
You sweep a room or turn a sod,
And suddenly, to your surprise,
You hear the whirr of seraphim,

And find you're under God's own eyes
And building palaces for Him.

That's the way we do it here. Try it. See how it keeps a new car lustrous longer — how it gives older ones a new lease on good looks.
